

How to measure your spa cover correctly

C

Measuring location of catches

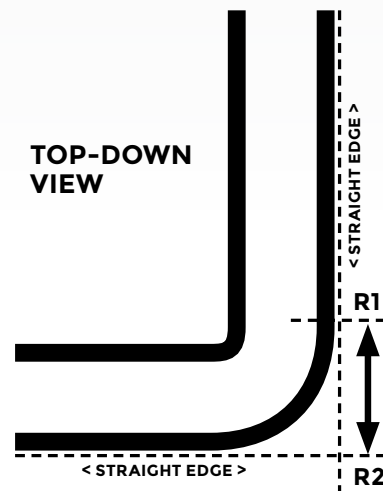

Measure distance (T1 & T2) from each outer spa edge to centre of catch. If more than one catch per side also measure distance between catches (T3). Then measure from top of the spa (not the spa cover) down to center of catch (T4).

R

Measuring the outer radius

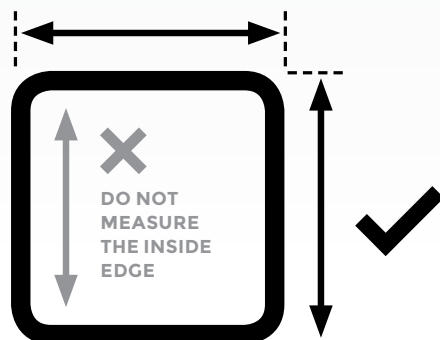

Measure from beginning of curve (R1) to point where both straight rules meet (R2)

S

Measuring each side

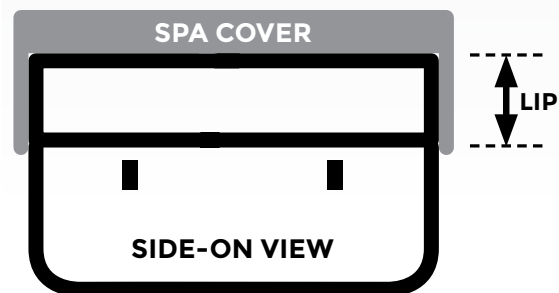

Measure the outside dimensions of your spa.

Measuring the lip

Measure from top surface of spa shell down to where it meets cabinet, deck or tile.

Spa Cover Construction

NOTE:

Stock and generic covers may have different latch locations. All covers include new locking latches. If the latch placement does not match yours, you may have to install the new latches in a different location.

Contact us for a custom cover if you need specific latch placement.

NOTE: New locking latches are included with all covers. If purchasing a stock cover, you may need to drill new holes in your spa cabinet because the straps may not match the old location. If this is not acceptable, you will need to order a custom cover. T1 + T2 + T3 should equal the total length of the side with straps. If the straps are on four corners, note that instead of T1 and T2. The strap length measurement T4 is from the top of the spa (not the spa cover) down to center of catch on the cabinet.
